Ministry Outside of Ministry

Dara's Grandmother and James.

What does your ministry look like? Who are you investing into regularly for God's Kingdom? As we get older, God is giving us opportunities to not only to speak truth into students lives but adults also. It has always been hard for me to be involved in my local church here. It is very humbling that my language is still not to the level to understand the sermon fully on Sunday mornings. This is very humbling considering I am a missionary and should be able to speak fluently to the people I minister to. Even though I studied the language hard and hear Slovak constantly in my own home from my kids and wife, I still struggle to communicate. But even in the midst of my flaw, God is choosing to use me. Dara and I started a small group in our church a year ago. There are 12 of us: an older married couple, 2 younger married couples, 3 single ladies, and a man who became a believer after he was married. His wife is resistant to his faith. We meet most Friday evenings to simply pray for each other and study the Bible. As I lead this study, doubts arise around the effectiveness of the time. We evaluated this time recently and every person shared how they value it and are encouraged by our time together as a group. They said it has been a blessing to grow deeper relationships with each other who makes up a small part of our local church body.

Some sad news: Dara's Babka (Grandmother) passed away on February 3rd. We all will miss her. She had so many interesting stories to tell.

We included our Christmas picture. We wanted to get our whole family in it but the reality of adjusting to our newborn caused us to create this one at this time. Please put it on your frig or in your bible to remember to pray for our work here.

Prayer Requests

- Please pray as we continue to look for different ways to build relationships to be able to speak life saving truth to them.
- Thank God for how He is choosing to use us here.
